VANNI RASTER

the new eyewear collection in exclusive acetate

Our life today is increasingly invaded by digital graphics. Raster, the new collection of VANNI eyewear, draws inspiration from the digital present and a term commonly used by 21st century graphic designers.

Raw Material

VANNI exclusive acetates.

Design Detail

the weave of the Raster eyewear collection conjures up the tight graphic lattice that contains the infinitesimal information of a pixelated digital image. Raster reproduces a compact, high resolution, iridescent and consequently changing checker board: the precision of the colourful micro lines merging with the overlapping material, creating the optical illusion of a cubic geometric pattern.

Shapes and Colours

the Raster acetates combine black with grey, brown with gold, blue with brown, and new combinations of iridescent orange and brown, turquoise and gold and tones of red. Some frames come with a combination of Raster material with one transparent colour, tone-on-tone or in two-colour contrast versions.

Styles to suit both the male and female customer: classic, wide and rectangular for men, a feminine, wide rounded butterfly shape for women as well as more conventional shapes for the smaller face. The season's models include 5 ultra thin versions.

VANNI eyewear is made in Italy, for sure.
